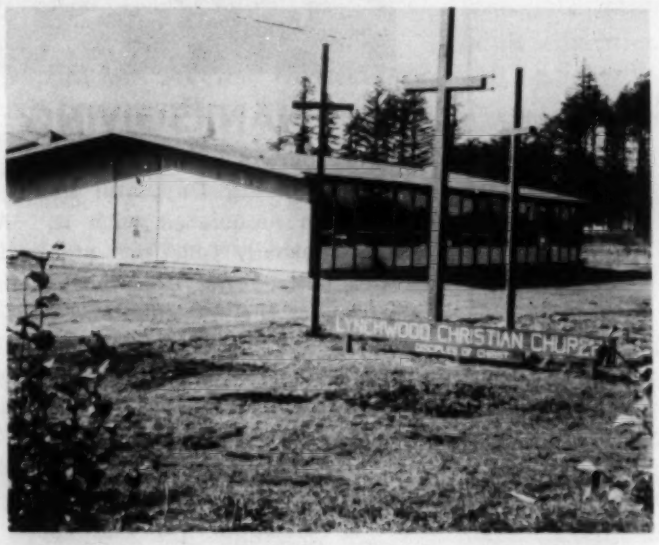
VOL. XIX No. 10 Portland, Oregon November 1961



DEDICATED: first unit of Lynchwood Christian Church

SPEAKERS were host pastor, Ray Helseth; Sherman Moore; Charles Addleman, standing; Henry Searle; and Wayne Greene, out of picture to the right.

Capacity Crowd Attends Dedication of New Portland Church

The first unit of the new Lynchwood Christian Church, 3815 S.E. 174th Avenue, Portland, was dedicated in a Sunday afternoon service, October 15.

The host pastor, Ray Helseth, presided at the ceremonies. Dr. Charles Addleman, former state secretary, gave a historical sketch of the steps leading to the establishment of the church.

Special music was provided by the Lynchwood choir of 15 voices, directed by Mrs. Ray Helseth, and by a quartet from the choir. The organ was played by Julius Walter.

Dr. Wayne Greene delivered the message of dedication and led the congregation in the litany of dedication. Dr. Henry Searle offered the prayer of dedication.

The crowd of about 200 who thronged the chapel to witness the dedication included visitors from as far away as Corvallis. The chapel comfortably accommodates 100.

The chapel is the largest room in the new building. Other rooms include classrooms, minister's office, restrooms, kitchen, and furnace room.

The building, valued at $31,000, first of several units projected for the 4 1/3-acre site, is of laminated wooden-beam construction, supporting a roof of grooved car decking. The outside walls are of glass. The floor is a concrete slab, surfaced with asphalt tile.

Fluorescent units light the classrooms, and ceiling incadescent lamps illuminate the chapel. The building is heated with twin, oil-burning furnaces. The office also has baseboard heating. New push-type light switches equip the entire building.

The office has new desks, chair, and filing cabinets. The chapel has 100 new folding chairs (which were nearly all filled for the morning church service, preceding the dedication service). The pulpit and communion table are made of stained birch. Cabinets of similar wood furnish the kitchen.

The choir has robes donated by the First Christian Church of Salem.

Equipment that remains to be secured as soon as funds are available includes chairs and tables for the classrooms.

The building was erected and the parking lot surfaced by Arthur Holden, Portland contractor. The architects were Broome, Selig, and Oringdulph of Gresham.

Dr. Greene in his dedicatory address emphasized the fact that this is the first of the new churches to be erected in Oregon under the Decade of Decision program. The next building is scheduled for Springfield.

Treasurer's Report Shows Increase In Giving of Oregon Churches

"It is gratifying to see the increase over last year's giving," said Henry Searle, executive secretary, after looking over the financial report which is printed below. I am sure that he was voicing the feelings of every Oregon Christian.

I am sure that none of us want to see a repetition of the situation of last year, in which $20,000 had to be cut from the budget. Let us hope that the giving will continue to increase here in Oregon so that we can carry on the kind of activities we need for the development of our work here in Oregon.

THANKSGIVING

Every person knows a bit of the origin of Thanksgiving Day, and the religious inspiration associated with it. All too often, football, feasting, and gala festivities eclipse the deeper spiritual significance of the occasion.

It is right that we should be thankful for our material blessings. We do have more and better food — more and better clothing — more and better homes than any other people in the world. We have more luxury items, ranging from electric can openers to high-speed motor boats than all the rest of the world combined. Recently, it was stated — "All Americans and Canadians could get into their cars and not use the back seats — since we have one car for every three persons."

Beyond material blessings, we are possessors of a rich heritage summed up in one word — freedom. Our children have the advantage of public education; we all have freedom of assembly, freedom of speech, and universal political suffrage.

We have religious freedom—the right of every person to worship God according to his own conscience. Upon these great foundational freedoms we have built our cultural institutions, founded our homes, and structured our economic, social, political, and religious life.

How can we as Christian people, thank Almighty God for our many blessings and benefits? Certainly, by doing something more than feasting and visiting. Participation in corporate worship and thanksgiving is appropriate, but hardly sufficient. Associated with sincere spiritual appreciation and expression should be worthy sharing for Christian causes. As much given in the special Thanksgiving offering for Christian work as will be spent for the Thanksgiving dinner might be the standard for minimum sharing.

Conferences with Lantz and Lentz

Statewide Institute for Training in New Adult Curriculum, Dec. 2-3

Use of the introductory course of the new adult-curriculum material, The ed to begin with the winter quarter, Jan- Christian Discipleship Series, is schedul- uary 1 through March 31. The study courses that follow will be six months in length, covering a period of three years. Many church-school classes and leaders have indicated they will use this adult curriculum.

In preparation for the curriculum's use, adult-class teachers and ministers are invited to attend a two-day training institute in Portland, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 2-3.

Guiding the sessions will be Mr. Walter Lantz, national director of adult work, and Mr. D. Allison Holt, associate executive secretary of the department of Christian education of our brotherhood.

The institute will begin promptly at noon on Saturday and close at 4:00 p.m. on Sunday.

All persons interested in attending must pre-register with Mr. Don Rogers, minister, First Christian Church, Main and DeSpain, Pendleton, who is chairman of the state adult committee and coordinator of the institute.

WALTER LANTZ will lead the training institute with the aid of D. Allison Holt. Both come from Indianapolis.

More Details on New Adult Materials

The new adult-curriculum materials, The Christian Discipleship Series, will be available for use in the churches of our brotherhood in January of 1962. These materials introduce a new concept of adult education in which small groups and shared leadership are key ideas. These materials and the new methods that will make their use successful will require special training for pastors and teachers.

Initial response from thirty churches has shown a strong interest in this training meeting, Dec. 2 and 3. A number of pastors are planning to attend along with the teachers of their congregation who are planning to use the materials. The materials will be introduced, methods appropriate for their use presented and experienced, and actual class sessions held in the two-day meeting. Attendance for the full session is necessary.

Details of cost and schedule will be sent out by the Adult Committee of the O.C.M.S. (Don Rogers of Pendleton, chairman).

The opening course in the Discipleship series will introduce the basic educational principals of adult education and the group techniques found most effective in the kind of educational experience where lives are changed and real growth is stimulated.

More information on the series may be secured from the Christian Board of Publication in the booklet "The Christian Discipleship Series". The course was used experimentally in the Corvallis Church and met with an enthusiastic response.

NOTE

THE STATE OFFICE, 304 FITZPATRICK BUILDING, PORTLAND, WILL BE CLOSED ON THANKSGIVING DAY AND ON THE DAY FOLLOWING.

DR. RICHARD E. LENTZ

Lentz Will Lead Annual Planning Meet of Education Commission

The annual planning conference of the Christian Education Commission will consider "Developing a More Significant Program of Leadership Development" under the leadership of Dr. Richard E. Lentz, national director of Church-Wide Leadership Development at Camp Crestview, Nov. 9-11. Dr. Lentz will speak three times to the total group as well as meet with each committee.

Dr. Richard E. Lentz is national director of Church-Wide Leadership Development. He is well known in Oregon both for his books on Christian family life and for his searching analyses of needs in Christian Churches today. He was a resident minister for 24 years serving congregations in Ohio, New York, and Indiana; a professor at Franklin College; national director of adult work and family-life education for the National Council of Churches; and director of Christian family life for the United Society before coming to his present position.

All age-level committees will review their past year's leadership education activities in the state, study the Decade of Decision objective in Christian education, and make plans for a more comprehensive and integrated program of leadership development for the 1962-63 year and beyond.

The Conference will also include the youth executive committee of the state CYF (Kathy Scott is president).

Oregon Churchman Interviews President of State Fellowship

OREGON CHURCHMAN: Ralph, just what is men's work in the church?

RALPH WARREN: Men's Work is developing the men of the church spiritually within the church.

OC: I mean that the purpose of Christian Men's Fellowship is to develop the men of the church to the point that the church will have the man-power so that the church can function effectively in the areas of stewardship, evangelism, Sunday-school teaching, and, most important, so that men will learn to pray for one another and experience a blessing through talking with God. The goal of Men's Work is not projects, but men, as Jack Sutton puts it.

OC: Are there any signs that Christian Men's Fellowship is developing in Oregon?

RW: Where laymen of churches understand what Christian Men's Fellowship is, as I have stated, Christian Men's Fellowship is progressing in a rapid development as never before experienced. At this time three districts have been formed with installation of officers under the CMF Commission plan, and others are taking steps toward forming district commissions.

OC: Ralph, as state CMF president are you finding opportunities to meet with men of our churches of the state to present the CMF program?

RW: Yes, many such opportunities are coming to me. I have been invited to speak to many men's groups in various parts of the state, also at regular church services. It has also been my privilege in the capacity of one of the national CMF officers to travel in a number of other states.

OC: What plans are being made for promoting men's work in the churches of our state?

RW: I have just written, and with the assistance of the state office, have published a pamphlet called, "Developing Laymen Spiritually," which is an outline that can be used by local, district, state and area CMF Commissions. Within this pamphlet I lay down three fundamentals: 1. Laymen and Prayer, 2. Laymen and Support, 3. Laymen and Training. It would be my prayer that I might have the opportunity to present this pamphlet to every church across the state of Oregon. It has been presented in a number of churches, not only in Oregon, but in other states and has been enthusiastically received as an answer to reactivating the inactive laymen of our brotherhood.

OC: Ralph, you are a business man, and as such, have heavy obligations on your time. Will you be able to continue accepting invitations to visit churches?

RW: My prayer is that I may have the opportunity to visit our churches and will continue to accept this challenge whenever I can. I would suggest that requests for speaking dates be made by writing me in care of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society. Such requests should be made as early as possible, since I now have appointments several months in advance. I am often speaking in several churches on a week-end trip.

OC: Are plans being made for a Men's Retreat this year?

RW: Yes, plans are now being laid for a working CMF Retreat in early spring. The theme will be: "Developing Laymen Spiritually." The entire retreat program will be devoted to small working groups studying the inner meanings of this theme. The next issue of the Oregon Christian will carry an announcement of the time and place and details as to the program.

180 Men Attend First Dinner Rally of Metropolitan Men's Fellowship

One hundred eighty men from seventeen churches attended the first dinner and rally meeting of the new Metropolitan District Christian Men's Fellowship Monday evening, Oct. 9, at the First Christian Church. It was a most enjoyable evening, combining food, fellowship, music, magic and inspiration. Dr. James Alley, Gladstone, brought the message on COMMITTED CHRISTIAN MEN. Ralph Warren, State CMF president, presented a challenge: Developing Laymen Spiritually.

Wayne Bryant, St. Helens, sang "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." On the lighter side, Larry Baird, Gresham, amused and mystified the group with an Oriental magic act. Rounding out the program was a fellowship song fest led by Gene Chamberlain, Southeast. Per Walthinson, organist from Mallory, accompanied.

Robert Nelson, Mallory Avenue, presided. Others participating in the program were Clifford Trout, Mallory Avenue; Henry Hotvedt, Englewood; Gordon Pefley, First Christian; Henry Searle, OCMS; Ray Helseth, Lynchwood.

Three Valley Ministers Move to New Positions

Leaving Corvallis— Glyn Adsit

Glyn B. Adsit closed his ministry at the Corvallis Christian Church on November 1, after four years and one month of service. He resigned after he received a call to be the minister of the First Christian Church in Pampa, Texas.

During his pastorate he performed 36 weddings, officiated at 48 funeral memorial services, and led 286 additions into the church.

Among the tangible accomplishments of the Corvallis congregation under Mr. Adsit's leadership were the acquisition of a new communion table and chairs as well as new pulpit furniture (memorial gifts); remodeling of the building to provide restrooms on all floors, increased office space, and reduction of fire hazards; purchase of a 5-acre site on Kings Road for an additional church; and purchase of new parsonage valued at $18,250.

During Mr. Adsit's ministry the Corvallis church made notable advances in program and organization. A large number of members now participate in the functional departments; a Christian Fellowship has started; and participation of women, particularly the younger women, in the Christian Women's Fellowship has increased.

An additional full-time staff member, Jim Dyson, was added to assist in the areas of evangelism and youth. "Jim has done one of the best jobs that I have ever seen or heard about with the youth program," said Mr. Adsit in commenting on Mr. Dyson's work.

Double sessions were instituted in 1960-61. The regular budget increased substantially during Mr. Adsit's four years, and the Venture of Faith drive brought in $50,000 in pledges for long-range needs.

In the work of the State Society he held several posts of responsibility: director of area CYF conference one year; member of the World Outreach Commission and Commission on the Ministry; chairman of the Campsite Committee (later named Commission on Property); and member of the State Board.

The church at Pampa, Texas, has a membership of 900 and a Sunday-School enrollment of 800. Pampa is 55 miles northeast of Amarillo, Texas, a city where Glyn and his wife, Jean, started out in the ministry. Their relatives live in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas.

Leaving Salem— Wayne Greene

Dr. Wayne A. Greene, under whose pastorate Salem's First Christian Church saw a great period of growth, is resigning to take a national position with United Christian Missionary Society as National Director of Men's work.

Announcement of the resignation, effective November 1, was in the form of a letter read to the congregation and confirmed by a telegram from the International Convention, which Dr. and Mrs. Greene were attending.

Dr. Greene became pastor in Salem Feb. 14, 1954, succeeding Rev. Dudley Strain, and during that time many persons joined the church, swelling the membership to 1500 persons. Also the mortgage was paid off in a period of nine years instead of the expected 15 or 20.

In addition to his many local civic activities, Dr. Greene was member for seven years of the National Commission on the Brotherhood Finance; member of the state board of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society; chairman of the Stewardship Commission of O.C.M.S.; chairman of Unified promotion for the state; member of Oregon Christian Campus Commission; member of the World Outreach Commission of O.C.M.S.; vice-president of O.C.M.S.: chairman of the program committee for the State Convention; religious adviser of Oregon Civil Defense and Mobilization Staff; chairman of the Personnel Committee of OCMS when both Dr. Searle and Sherman Moore were called to the staff.

He was also chairman of the Legislative and Social Action Committee of the Oregon Council of Churches; member of the board of directors of the Oregon Council on Alcohol Problems; member of Salem Council of Churches; past-president of the Salem Ministerial Association and at present is member of the board of directors of Oregon Council of Churches.

The Greenes left Salem by car on the 30th for Indianapolis, where for the first time in their ministry, they will not be occupying a parsonage, but will be living in an apartment which has just been completed and only a few minutes' drive from Missions Building, where Dr. Greene's office is located. Dr. Greene will be working with Wm. McKinney, who is Executive Secretary of Christian Men's Fellowship.

The Greene's address in Indianapolis is: 7047 East 11th St., Apt. 2F, Indianapolis 19, Indiana.

Leaving Lebanon— David Nutting

David W. Nutting has accepted a call to Washington to become the pastor of the new Woodmont Christian Church which has just been organized this year. It is located near the eastern shore of Puget Sound in a rapidly growing suburban area between Seattle and Tacoma, five miles south of the Seattle-Tacoma Airport and a few miles straight west of Kent.

The membership roll of the new church includes 115 charter members and is jointly sponsored by the Washington State Missionary Society, the Seattle Missionary Union and the United Christian Missionary Society.

The Nuttings closed their work with the First Christian Church at Lebanon, where they have served for the past three years, the latter part of September and assumed their duties at Woodmont on October 1.

500 Attend Farewell for Dr. and Mrs. Greene

The congregation of First Church, Salem, held a farewell reception for Dr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Greene on Sunday, October 29, at the Church. Approximately 500 persons attended the three-hour gathering in the Fellowship Hall.

In addition to 400 members of the congregation there were representatives from Salem area churches and state OCMS, service clubs, and civic officials.

The Fellowship Hall was uniquely appointed for the occasion. The CWF decorated in fall colors using native flowers and shrubs. They handled the serving table and were hostesses. They were assisted by the CYF and Phi Zeta. The CMF fashioned a most unusual reception area. They built a fascimile of a drum of a printing press behind and within which Dr. and Mrs. Greene sat on a slightly raised platform.

The drum of the simulated press had as its central theme an enlarged reproduction of "The Scroll" (The church's weekly news letter.) The first "Scroll" that Dr. Greene edited was reproduced, in which he has ever since contributed a weekly column known as "Greene's Pasture".

West Central Youth Turn Out for Rally

Window Washing

The Corvallis youth group on September 10 started their regular C.Y.F. program at 6:30 to 8:00, followed by a fireside from 8:00 to 9:00. On September 16 they had an annual project of washing windows at the Christian House on the campus.

Rally at Halsey

The West Central District had a youth rally at Halsey on September 24. The purpose of the meeting was for the C.Y.F.'ers of the new towns in the district to get acquainted with the rest of the C.Y.F.'ers and also for the new freshmen to get acquainted. The meet really turned out great. Many new friends were met, and everybody had a wonderful time. The total amount in attendance was 95. Jim Dyson, from Corvallis was the speaker. He gave a very enlightening talk.

Youth-A-Rama Held in Ontario, Oregon

Starting off with a bang, Mike the Martian, mascot of the Youth-A-Rama September 15 and 16, presented the Friday-night speaker, Rev. Willard Cromwell, minister of Hermiston, who spoke on the Space Age. "Teen Age Conflict" was the name of the film which was shown after Rev. Cromwell's talk.

Saturday's program began with a very inspiring panel discussion titled "Dig Your Wig." Panel members were Mrs. Elsie Mosier, Payette, Idaho, speaking on "Teens 'n Togs;" Dr. Delbert Coulter, Ontario, speaking on "Teens 'n Health;" Mr. William Riddlebarger, assistant principal of Ontario High School, speaking on "Teens 'n School;" Edith Harmon, Eastern District C.Y.F. President, speaking on "Teens 'n Talk;" and concluding with Bob Peacock, President of La Grande youth group, speaking on "The Future In Faith."

Buzz Your Bonnet committees were held after the panel discussion. The committees were enlistment, worship, and service.

Larry Grant of Fruitland, Idaho, was M.C. for the talent show presented by the various churches attending.

Ardell Millian, a student at Boise Bible College in Boise, Idaho, was the guest speaker for the banquet Saturday evening.

The Youth-A-Rama ended with the consecration service. The highlight of the Youth-A-Rama was the dedication of her life to full-time Christian service by Glenda Olsen of Ontario. Edith Harmon, Hermiston, Lila Harmon, Hermiston, and Roger Alexander, Ontario, who had already dedicated their lives, shared in the ceremony.

The Youth-A-Rama was termed very successful with about 60 youth and adults attending. Charlene Grant, president of Ontario C.Y.F., was general chairman and announcer.

ANNOUNCING—
1961-62 World Flight

COST: $16.31 per minute

Have the thrill of visiting and serving in Japan, The Philippines, India, Thailand, the Congo, South Africa, Argentina, Paraguay, Puerto Rico, Jamaica, Mexico, Canada, the United States, Haiti, Nepal, Okinawa, and Ceylon!

Yet, it is true. We fly not by jet but by Christian World Friendship Fund, where our money feeds and clothes the destitute, comforts the orphans, heals the sick in the hospitals, educates leaders in the schools, conducts conferences, and builds new churches.

Remember, for only $16.31 per minute we have the joy of completely supporting all this work. How many minutes are we as individuals going to take this year? How many as a youth group? How many as a church?

Youth calls this airline C.W.F.F. The adult calls it Unified Promotion.

N.B.A. Celebrates 75th Birthday at International Convention

We wish everyone could have been at the International Convention in Kansas City and helped to celebrate N.B.A.'s 75th Anniversary. What an occasion it was!

On Saturday more than 700 people attended the N.B.A. Luncheon. The tables were decorated by the various Homes. A solo, sung by Mr. Frank Cook, age 96, made many eyes water, and all received inspiration from the message of Dr. Leslie L. Smith, minister of Central Christian Church of Lexington, Kentucky, and a member of the Woodhaven Christian Home Board.

On Monday evening the processional of Home Boards and staff and their banners, and the address of Gov. Matthew Welch of Indiana were real Convention highlights.

A historical sketch of N.B.A. was presented and the Administrators of the Kansas Christian Home, Mr. Leonard Sammon, and the Woodhaven Christian Home for Children, Mr. Charles M. Palmer, were received into the N.B.A. family of homes and the Brotherhood of our Churches. All in all it was a wonderful celebration.

International Convention Highlights Listed for—

OREGON CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP

By Idella Osburn

The Christian Women's Fellowship column comes to you this month in the midst of a busy schedule. This thought is predominant: let us not become so busy that we forget to count our blessings and give thanks from grateful hearts for His manifold goodness to us, and may we renew and re-dedicate ourselves to make our thankfulness known by our acts of love.

A big thank you goes to Mrs. Edna Burke, our former CWF executive secretary for being the guest columnist last month. Wasn't it good to hear from her again? I'm sure she would be happy to have a word of greeting from many of her friends. Her address is 1192 Jefferson St., Eugene, Oregon.

CWF Session at Kansas City

Having just returned from the International Convention of Christian Churches in Kansas City, Mo., we would like to tell you all about the wonderful fellowship, program, and brotherhood leaders. Instead, we will confine this report to the CWF session held on Saturday afternoon, September 30.

There were some 5000 women in attendance wo sat in delegation by states. The theme was "Getting To Know You," and I'm sure it was the first experience for the Christian Women's Fellowship's across the continent to be visited from outer space.

Space Ship

A space ship with all its properties (noise) brought the entire national CWF staff and International CWF officers to us. All new officers were introduced and spoke briefly: Miss Helen Spaulding, replacing Miss Jessie Trout as national executive secretary of CWF; Miss Jane Heaton, replacing Mrs. Judson Faw, national program co-ordinator; and Miss Lois Mothershed, new in the department of services. Mrs. O. Ivan Cole, president of Int'l CWF, and Mrs. R. O. Pierson, vice president, spoke briefly and shared something of their lovely spirit with us.

Two Broken Cups

Mae Yoho Ward, executive secretary to Latin American countries and newly elected vice president to United Christian Missionary Society, gave the address of the day, entitled, "Knowing, loving, Committing." She challenged us to a new awareness of situations in the Latin American countries. Having recently returned from the mission field she was anxious we "hear and understand."

Using the illustration of a Christian family in Latin America who had two broken cups, she opened our eyes to the need to change conditions that cause poverty rather than to send four unbroken cups to the family. "This will come," she says, "with a deepened commitment by Christians — whether at home or abroad, who are willing to give of themselves — give of their best — in money, possessions and abilities." (Note — Mrs. Ward's speech may be borrowed, on tape, from your CWF office, 911 So. Hiatt, Lebanon, Ore.)

Sixteen From Oregon

Sixteen women were counted in the Oregon delegation. Four officers from the state CWF Board were Mrs. C. P. Smith, president; Mrs. Henry Searle, recorder; Mrs. Leo Quackenbush, a membership chairman; and the writer. There were two local CWF presidents: Mrs. Earl Wymore, 1st Church, Portland; Mrs. Christina Holbrook, Mallory Ave. There were two top women in United Church Women: Mrs. Carroll Roberts, Eugene, president of Oregon Council, and Mrs. Gerald Wood, president of Portland Council. These two women continued on to the 9th Assembly meeting in Miama Beach, Florida.

Many ministers' wives and laywomen attended, but space does not permit printing all names.

May we urge each one of you to make every effort to attend the International Convention next year — It will be held in Los Angeles, October 12-17, 1962. It may be your last opportunity to attend for a few years, as it is not often held on the west coast.

Utah Retreat

Mrs. Carlton Buck, wife of Dr. Carlton Buck, minister of First Church, Eugene, served as the inspirational speaker for the So. Idaho All-state Retreat in September. Mrs. Buck spoke on the three CWF goals for the Decade and also sang, in her rich contralto voice, one of Dr. Buck's songs for the commitment service, "At The Master's Feet."

Mrs. Ralph Cook, State Worship Director, Medford, Oregon, served as guest leader for the Utah All-state Worship Retreat in September. Virginia endeared herself to the women of Utah. (We find, too, she was a resident of Ogden, at an early age). The retreat was held up Big Cottonwood Canyon, amid the hidden beauties of another great state.

Are your Woman's Day plans completed? You may get in touch with your SWF office for extra speaker's material.

Happy Thanksgiving to you all!

Winston Honors Members in Ministry

In the short ten-year history of the Winston Christian Church five young men have entered Northwest Christian College to prepare for the ministry.

Three of them have graduated and are now serving churches: Olaf Carpenter preaches at the Snohomish, Washington, Christian Church; Roger Davidson is the assistant pastor at the Forest Grove Christian Church; and Wendall Wagler is the assistant pastor at the First Christian Church of Medford. Ron Coulter and Gerald Carter are still in training.

In a special service, Sunday, October 15, a Christian Service Roll was dedicated at the Winston Christian Church to list the names of those who have completed their training and are serving churches.

Professor William Richardson, representing Northwest Christian College, gave the message. A fellowship dinner followed. Three of the five were able to be present for the day: Olaf Carpenter, Ben Coulter and Wendall Wagler.

Ralph Helseth is the new minister at Winston.

OLAF CARPENTER, Ron Coulter and Wendall Wagler taking part in a special service at the Winston Christian Church, honoring those who have entered the ministry from that church.

ARTHUR GUY WRINKLE

Funeral services were held on Thursday, October 5, for Arthur Guy Wrinkle, prominent businessman of Milton-Freewater, who died on October 2 following a heart attack. Rev. George Knox officiated at the memorial service.

The casket bearers and the honorary pall bearers were elders and deacons of the First Christian Church of Milton-Freewater.

Guy Wrinkle was born in 1892 in Lebanon, Missouri. He married Fannie Christeson in 1916 and moved to Weiser, Idaho, in 1920. In 1929 they came to Milton-Freewater, where Wrinkle was a fruit farmer until 1942, when he went into the real-estate business.

He was an active member of the First Christian Church, holding positions as an elder, a trustee, a member of the church board, and, for many years financial secretary.

He was also active in the Council of Churches and in the local migrant program.

He is survived by his wife, Fannie; two sons, A. J. and C. W. Wrinkle of Milton-Freewater; a daughter, Mrs. Roy (Claudine) Black; five brothers and two sisters; and five grandchildren.

It was asked that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the Wrinkle Memorial Fund at the First Christian Church

Mrs. Herb Warner, church reporter, said, "He was one of the most beloved and active elders of the church. He attended faithfully. We miss his cheery greeting and hearty handshake at the door on Sundays."

New Church Underway In Springfield

Work toward establishing a second congregation in Springfield got under way the first of November. This will be the second new-church project of the Decade of Decision, and will be sponsored jointly by the First Christian Church in Springfield and the Oregon Christian Missionary Society. Sherman Moore, director of evangelism and church development for the OCMS, will spend several months in Springfield as the organizing minister for this new church. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live in Springfield for this period of time.

The selection of the location for this new church was the result of research which began in the summer of 1959, when a survey of the entire Eugene-Springfield area was conducted under the direction of Mr. Barrett Whitley, who was conducting a class in church research and planning at Northwest Christian College. This survey pointed to the area north of Springfield as one of high potential growth.

Further studies led to the selection of a location on Hayden Bridge Road, where request was made of the Oregon Council of Churches for an allocation for new-church development. With the granting of this request the First Christian Church of Springfield purchased a 10-acre site.

There is a population in excess of 4,000 in the area to be served by this proposed congregation with an anticipated growth of some 13,000 in the near future. New homes in the vicinity are being constructed at the rate of about 100 per year.

The Oregon Christian Missionary Society will share in this project by furnishing the leadership of Mr. Moore and will also appropriate funds toward the building. A call for $10.00 contributions will be made through the Decade Club sometime in 1961.

During the first two or three months of Mr. Moore's work in Springfield he will be engaged in making personal contacts in the homes of the area, holding home neighborhood meetings, training leadership, looking toward the formation of a congregation and the beginning of a regular church program early in 1962. Mr. Moore will welcome opportunities to speak in churches of the state to present the new-church program of the Decade of Decision. Until regular services are started in the new Springfield church, he will be available on Sunday as well as other times by appointment.

KENNETH MILLS

Pancake Breakfast Held at Englewood

The annual Windjammers Pancake Breakfast of the Englewood Christian Church was held, Saturday, October 21, from 7:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.

This very popular annual event featured a complete breakfast of pancakes, link sausage, eggs, homemade applesauce or juice, coffee and milk. Breakfast was served to adults for $1.00 and children under 12 for $.60.

The Christian Women's Fellowship also held a Thrift Sale the same day from 9:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. (not a rummage sale, but a sale of wearable and usable articles for the family and home).

Mrs. Robert Anderson

Assistant Called at Dallas

The Dallas Christian Church has called Kenneth Mills to direct its religious-education program and assist with the office secretarial work.

Ken is a '59 graduate of Northwest Christian College in the field of religious education. He was ordained that same year by his home church in Albany.

His training and experience include departmental, camp, and conference work with young people of varying age levels. He assisted churches in Eugene, Halsey, Powell Butte, Madras, and Hillsboro before accepting the call to Dallas.

NEWS OF THE CHRISTIAN STUDENT CENTERS

SIGNING THE GUEST BOOK: new students line up at Eugene Christian House at first event of the fall term.

DULCINA ELLIOTT, CAMPUS MINISTER AT EUGENE

Fall subjects of study at the Eugene Christian House have centered upon the theme: "My Faith — Is It Relevant on Campus?" The Sunday-evening discussions have dealt with "Campus Gods on Trial," with senior students Harriet Atkins, Wayne Long, Lowell Kimble, Gordon Bruton, and Gordon Chong presenting the campus gods of activities, science, social life, popularity, and grades.

Dr. Quirinus Breen of the history department at the University presented the god of intellectualism, Dean Golda Wickham, that of social prestige, and Dr. Lawrence Bixler that of indifference. Nels Ferre's book on "Deepening the Spiritual Life" has been the morning study guide.

A new course on "The Social Teachings of Jesus" began on October 15 with Keith Salmonson as temporary leader and a weekday course on the ecumenical movement will begin soon.

Firesides opened with a farewell party for Miss Rose Mary Roberts, who was leaving next day to assume a new position at the Geneva, Switzerland, headquarters of the World Council of Churches. Miss Charla Royston shared her summer experience on a service project in Mexico sponsored by the American Friends Service committee, and Gordon Bruton told of the executive meeting of the national council of the United Campus Christian Fellowship held in Monmouth, Illinois in late summer.

President Arthur B. Flemming will speak to most of the campus Protestant Christian groups on October 22, and Christian House will hold a joint Reformation Sunday program with the American Baptist students, for whom our own Ted Yamamori is serving as campus minister.

RICHARD FLOOD, CAMPUS MINISTER AT CORVALLIS

One of the most important documents to come from the recent National Council of the United Campus Christian Fellowship at Monmouth, Illinois, was one entitled "UCCF as Means." Our conclusion was that "We see the UCCF not as the DSF, WSF, USF and EUB student fellowships joined together on various campuses, but as a body of believers, a part of the Church, perceiving its calling to be to the campus community.

We see the UCCF in the midst of the world and as a part of it in worldly activities. The UCCF must be on the campus, dispersed within the structures of the university and using them to express God's love for the world. It is a structure to compete with other organizations.

"There is a need for structure, but it must arise to facilitate and not hinder the Christian community as it responds to situations within the campus. As each structure arises, it faces the threat of solidifying and becoming an end rather than a means. Upon such threat the structure must cease to exist.

"It becomes our responsibility to identify the Christian community on the campus. We do not seek to draw people away from the campus to the UCCF, but rather to help the individual become aware of the presence and responsibility of the community of Christ in every facet of campus life.

"The question becomes, then, how can a UCCF do this? Phrased differently, what are the elements that we require to be witnesses in the campus community? We must be aware that we are in the midst of the world. We need to be constantly reminded of our unity in Christ. We need the nurture that is to be found in worship and study."

Study groups this year are offered to students better understand themselves, their faith, and the relevance of their faith to the world in which we find ourselves. The selection includes: Monday, "Love and Marriage"; Tuesday, "What Do I Believe?"; Wednesday, "Faith and Reason," "Studies in the Bible"; Thursday, "Jeremiah,' "Calvin," "The Meaning of Worship"; Friday, "Who Is Jesus?".

WITH THE STATE SECRETARY

My article for the October Oregon Christian was written immediately preceding the Churchmanship Conferences. These conferences were held at Grants Pass, First Church at Eugene, Kern Park at Portland, and Hermiston. Although attendance was not as large as we had anticipated, there was a very fine spirit at each conference. Surely those who attended will be better Christians for the experiences they had.

Besides speaking twice at each Churchmanship Conference, your secretary spoke at the morning service at First Christian Church, Grants Pass, and at First Christian Church, La Grande. These were the only two engagements in pulpits on Sunday, as your secretary was attending the International Convention in Kansas City. Preceding the International Convention, I attended a meeting to make plans for a spiritual-life conference here in Oregon in 1962, and also attended the National Evangelistic Association meeting.

Arriving back in Oregon I participated in the ordination of Ray Biggers on October 8. Mr. Biggers is doing a splendid job as minister of our Allison Park Christian Church in Eugene.

Other activities have included sharing in the Portland Metropolitan Area Christian Men's Fellowship meeting at First Church, Portland, with over 180 men present. I also met with our state board Commission on Christian Men's Fellowship as plans were made for their retreat this coming spring. We look for our men to continue to move forward in a very fine way.

Time was also spent meeting with our World Outreach Commission as they made plans for the Oregon Assembly to be held February 8 and 9 at First Church in Albany.

The month ended on the 15th with a great dedication-day service for our new Lynchwood Church. Lynchwood is a demonstration of what we can do as we work together in the establishment of new congregations.

As I view our churches here in Oregon, it is my feeling that many of our congregations are on the move. This is good. With new interest and enthusiasm and dedication we are better able to face the challenges of this hour.

Yours in Christian service,
Henry L. Searle

Keep-Christ-in-Christmas Committee Sets Festival for Dec. 3 in Portland

For the eighth year the interfaith Keep Christ in Christmas Committee of the metropolitan area of Portland is working to awaken the minds and hearts of people who have forgotten the real meaning of Christmas — the birthday of the Saviour.

Not only may we be awake to its significance but witness it by the kind of celebration we practice: the dignity and reverence of our home teaching and decorations, the family worship, the kind of greeting cards by which we witness, our giving and sharing unselfishly, the keeping of Christ's peace within in the midst of the flurry of Christmas preparations.

One further chief objective of the committee is to seek the cooperation of business firms to replace commercial emphasis with the true one of goodwill and brotherhood with window displays centering in the Christian theme.

The Keep Christ in Christmas Committee climaxes its year with a Festival of Christian art and symbolic displays with six programs of choral numbers in a separate quiet room. More than fourteen thousand persons visited the Festival last year.

We welcome you all to this year's Festival, lovelier than ever we hope, on Sunday, December 3, from 12:00 noon to 8:00 p.m., in the new Sheraton Hotel, 1000 N.E. Multnomah Street, Portland. A special feature in addition to exhibits and outstanding choir numbers will be a live manger scene arranged by the Council of Church Women.

Offering bowls will be near entrancer; there is no door charge. Cookies will be served.

Zada Tinker,
Director of Public Relations
Keep Christ in Christmas Committee

For the Gift Lists

The staple canned fruits and vegetables are acceptable, in jars or in tins. Apple sauce is the favorite — tomatoes and berries with seeds are in light demand. Jam and jelly can be used in moderate amounts. All kinds of sugar are useable but granulated and brown are preferable.

Small cans of peas, corn and soups are good as are fruit juices, large and small, pineapple, gelatin desserts, cake mixes (not many chocolate), canned or instant coffee (including caffeine-free instants), fresh apples and oranges. Facial tissues and toilet soaps can always be used. Please keep this item handy for Christmas white gift projects.

Two Retired Ministers Honored at Englewood

After a lifetime of service in the Christian Church, covering the far-flung corners of the world, two retired ministers are settling down to make the Englewood Christian Church, in Portland, Oregon, their permanent church home. The services on Sunday, October 15th honored these men by presenting Hugh L. Lomax and the Lt. Colonel Wilbur R. Hensley with honorable retirement pins, for their unselfish and dedicated devotion to the Christian Church.

Born in a log house in Kansas in 1877, Hugh L. Lomax moved with his family to Lincoln, Nebraska, where he finished high school. He entered Cotner College in 1896 and graduated with an A.B. degree. Post graduate work was done at Kentucky College of the Bible and the University of Chicago. He held pastorates in Kansas, Nebraska, Texas and Washington, and was public relations director of Cotner College for ten years. He also served in young peoples conferences and meetings for thirty consecutive years in seven states. Since retirement he had done ad interim work in Washington, Idaho, and Oregon.

Wilbur R. Hensley was graduated from Johnson Bible College, Kimberlin Heights, Tennessee, and ordained to the ministry. He also attended California Christian College in Los Angeles, and obtained two degrees from Arizona State College, Flagstaff, Arizona. In the Christian ministry since 1925, he served in California, Arizona, and Oregon, held the rank of Lt. Colonel in the United States Air Force as a chaplain until retirement in June of 1958.

PURDUE FESTIVAL

To relive moments of the Quadrennial Assembly of the Christian Women's Fellowship at Purdue, the CWF at the First Christian Church in Milton-Freewater held a "Purdue Festival" at the October 13 luncheon.

Speakers at the luncheon were women who had attended the Quadrennial: Mrs. M. Lorenzon of La Grande, Mrs. E. M. Dorsey of Walla Walla, Mrs. Frank Ritchey and Mrs. Ray Geissel of Milton-Freewater. The theme hymn, "Choose Ye This Day," was sung by Mrs. Leon Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Allan Herndobler.

Oregonians Attend International Convention

The following people from our churches in Oregon attended the International Convention of Christian Churches recently in Kansas City: James Fraley, Springfield; Kenneth Johnston, Kern Park; Mrs. B. E. Osburn, Lebanon; Philip Wolfe, Dallas; Mrs. Leo Quackenbush, Corvallis.

Wallace Hastings, La Grande; Roger Davidson, Forest Grove; Mrs. Herbert Margge, Hillsboro; Harold Lyman, Court Street Salem; Dr. and Mrs. Carroll Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Buck, Dr. Ross Griffeth, Eugene First; Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Greene, Salem First; Frances L. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. Henry L. Searle, Cedar Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitten, Dufur; Clifford Trout, Oscar Cooper, Mrs. Gerald Wood; Mrs. Charles Holbrook; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Smith, Mallory Avenue Portland; Harold Glen Brown, Mrs. Claude Lilly; Mrs. Mary E. Parker, Mrs. Earl Wymore, A. W. Mortensen, Guy Fowler, Mrs. Nina Marsh, Buford Darnell, Miss Loma Mae Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Peters, Portland First.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lewis, Mallory Avenue, Portland, started out for the Convention, but unfortunately Mr. Lewis fell ill and they had to return home.

All from Oregon were thrilled to see Harry Atkins, our minister at Dufur, awarded honors as the Rural Minister of the Year among the Disciples of Christ. Brother Harry made a fine presentation for rural ministry.

As we look forward to the International Convention in Los Angeles September 30 to October 4, 1962, we hope many of our folks from Oregon will plan to attend."

Addleman at Nyssa

Charles Addleman is serving as interim minister at the Christian Church in Nyssa. He commutes by train to Nyssa each week end.

Missionary Assignments Made for Oregon

Dear Friend:

Enclosed with this letter are the names of the missionaries assigned to your state in the new State and Area Missionary Partnership. This listing includes those recently commissioned and has with-held the names of those retiring from active missionary service as per our records.

We are endeavoring to secure a complete biography and picture on each person assigned your state. Under separate cover you will receive this information so it can be used this fall in your state paper.

This new approach has not been without difficulties, but I wish personally to express appreciation to you for your acceptance of this State and Area Missionary Partnership. It is our hope that experience will prove it to be as vital as the former "Living Link Relationship" with the local church.

Mr. Walter D. Cardwell, former Congo missionary, will now guide this new program and work with the State Secretary in arranging schedule and visitation when the Missionary Partner is home on furlough.

Our office will be happy to work with you as far as possible in making this a rewarding experience for you and your state program.

Most cordially,
Ira A. Paternoster
Executive Secretary

New Building Dedicated at Tokyo Girls' School

On September 9, 1961, the Margaret K. Long Girls' School (Joshi Seigakuin) in Tokyo, Japan, dedicated another new building. The school was founded by missionaries of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) and is one of the educational institutions in Japan related to The United Christian Missionary Society.

The building is part of a program of construction to provide more adequate space. Most of the original buildings were erected almost 50 years ago.

At present there is an enrollment of 665 in the junior high school, 528 in the senior high school, 63 in the primary school, and 148 in the kindergarten. The kindergarten celebrated its 50th anniversary and held a farewell paty for Mrs. K. C. Hendricks on September 30. Mrs. Hendricks and her husband, who have been missionaries to Japan for 27 years, are returning to the United States this fall.

Miss Daisy B. Edgerton is also on the staff of the Margaret K. Long school.

Milton-Freewater Gets Bigger Bus

Early fall activity finds all areas of the First Christian Church at Milton-Freewater occupied. The minister, George Knox, and a group of adults and young people attended the Churchmanship Conference at Hermiston.

The Congo Circle served a fried-chicken dinner, open to the public, as a money-raising project. It was successful financially. The proceeds will go into the missions fund.

A new junior choir has been organized. It sings at the evening services. The adult choir is doing beautifully under the direction of Mrs. Sue Herndobler, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Etling, song leader and organist, are still serving faithfully after many years.

On October 12, at a 7:00 A.M. breakfast William Pearcy from the Board of Church Extension in Indianapolis met with church members in a general consultation, regarding possible remodeling of the church.

A larger bus, capable of holding 30 people, was delivered this month. One of the congregation, Mrs. Helen Harris, not only drives but also gets the youngsters together early each Sunday morning for the trip to the church.

The church is sponsoring the new Explorers Post for Boy Scouts 14 years old.

The church cooperated in the community activity under the Council of Churches when the Bishop Players presented "Pass By This House," at the Federated Church.

Helpful Hints for the Holidays

Ways to interpret and make full use of Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's Day are suggested by Enos Nelson's timely article in the November issue of the World Call. Christian education departments will find special help here as they make final plans for the holidays. See page 17 of the November World Call.

ROBERTS AT VERNONIA

Bruce Roberts has accepted the pastorate of the Christian Church at Vernonia. He comes from Anderson, California.

Mr. Roberts is married and has two children, Jo Ann, 5 years old, and Butch, 3 years old.

Work Party Brings 150 People to Little River Camp on Labor Day

On Labor Day some 150 people from 12 churches in Southern Oregon came together to shake the camp buildings of Little River Christian Camp.

The old-fashioned way was used, splitting shakes by hand. A crew of six splitters managed to keep the workmen busy for the day. During the Labor-Day weekend the two dormitories were half finished, the dining hall was almost finished, and the office building was completely finished.

Dedication day was the Sunday afternoon before Labor Day. Sherman Moore presided at the service and brought the afternoon message. Dowell Callis brought the evening message. Many stayed at or near the camp for the whole weekend, to take advantage of the opportunities for fishing, hiking, and relaxing.

Jumping Enrollments Emphasize Needs of Campus Ministry

College enrollments in the State System of Higher Education are up surprisingly high over last year's figures. As of Monday, October 9, the figures were as follows: O.S.U. (Corvallis), 9027, up 14.4%; U. of O. (Eugene, 8788, up 16%; PSC (Portland) 5269, up 16%; OCE (Monmouth), 1284, up 16.8%; SOC (Ashland), 1457, up 6.7%; EOC (La Grande), 1069, up 28.6%.

Others, including the Medical School and the Dental School at Portland, and OTI at Klamath Falls, are up also.

"These facts point up the need to extend the nature and facilities of our campus ministry." and Mrs. Dulcina Elliott, campus minister at Eugene.

Medical Work Begins at River Kwai Mission

Douglas Corpron, Jr., who began operation of the new Baptist-Disciples mission project on the River Kwai in northwest Thailand early in 1961, reports that he has been "called upon to treat many sick Karen people" from the first. He has had to carry a medical kit as he went in and out via the river or over the jungle trails. He has recently been busy with clinic patients too.

To date he has reported three serious major surgical cases which needed emergency surgery, using an improvised operating table of planks and oil barrels.
